Susman Godfrey Easily Transfers Exhibits and Media Files Securely

Susman Godfrey has focused its nationally recognized practice on high-stakes commercial litigation. It is one of the nation’s leading litigation boutique law firms.

Business Challenge

Before ShareFile, the firm did not have an in-house means of securely administering large files with clients. The firm had no interest in hosting and administering its own FTP site and did not have an extranet in the traditional sense.

Employees at the firm were challenged with transferring files in a secure and professional manner.

Business Results

Currently, attorneys at the firm use ShareFile on nearly a daily basis to transfer documents, exhibits and media with both clients and co-council. “Not only does ShareFile provide a secure means for large file exchange, it also has an intuitive interface that allows our users to create and distribute shares with little to no support from our IT department,” says Harrison Sauls, Network Engineer at Susman Godfrey.

ShareFile has become an integral part of the firm’s technology infrastructure. Users can quickly and easily share files that otherwise would be difficult or impossible to share.
